Introduction to CARF

A comprehensive fast-paced one-day overview of business and program standards. Learn about the CARF process and needed efforts to obtain this international accreditation. This (or similar accreditation) may be necessary for providers by March 2009 and organizations should start now to prepare for a survey.

CHRIS EIEL, LPC, FAPA is recognized as one of the premier trainers in practical efforts to assist organizations to become accredited. As a consultant, administrator, practitioner, and experienced CARF surveyor, he has the knowledge and expertise to assist organizations to prepare for a successful survey.

Mr. Eiel lives in Lincoln, Nebraska. He has surveyed over 150 organizations and has written and published articles in behavioral health trade journals. Also, he is the President and founder of Recovery Management Consultants.

Return on Investment

Attendees should consider purchasing the 2007 CARF Manual and use the day to “follow along” and make notes about the process, standards and areas of emphasis in preparation. No manuals will be available the day of the conference. Manuals are available at www.carf.org.
